

Weekend should be chill. <Chantal> and I's Saturday got more involved. We are (priority one) taking care of those business cards, but we planned more today. Still dancing game (ugh, ha) plus she needs to take me to a 'southern' restaurant. I really need to go to one... and we are going to drink. She will also teach me that 'fine art'. Last time I drank alcohol was... December? I have an uneasy feeling... She came up with the idea... Just have a feeling things could go too far... drinking, us, alone? Her idea? Just considering the circumstances. But she's not a person who does that/crazy/sleeps around @ all. Very caring... But <Chantal> is going through a lot right now. She made a good point when she was upset: <redacted> I guess I still have some reserved feelings for her. We talked a lot one night and she reminded me a lot of <Ophelia> A bunch of smiley faces (an attack), sharing celebrity aspiration (crushes), the whole relationship thing (although <Chantal> sort of knows what she wants).