

Good week so far, already Wednesday and freezing cold. Did indeed go shooting Saturday and was amazing! I can't believe how well I did considering the last time I've shot (a while ago). Love it at that range. Will think about going again this weekend, depends on money. Thanksgiving pot luck thing is tomorrow and got the goods. Almost all caught up on the task I've been knee-deep in. All good and can finally complete work on our super cool, legit toolset. Good exercise although today I felt a little sick (food or something) while I was exercising. Pushed through and feeling better. Luckily tomorrow is it. Then I can chill it for the rest of the week. Sunday was cool, the <Carlos> surprise party went very well and was a lot of fun. Met some cool new people and ran into some old ones. Played my first drinking game ever (non-alcoholic for me) and was not that bad at it apparently! Ha! Also played that cards humanity game and was alright. Still like apples more. Going to meet up with them for trivia Thursday and the "Mexican" restaurant. Should be alright. Will be nice to hang with some peoples, really. <redacted> is really cool. Talked with her a bit and she was also part of the drinking game. Good times.
